Sinner's Prayer

Heavenly Father, I know that I have sinned against you and that my sins separate me from you. I am truly sorry. I now want to turn away from my past sinful life and turn to you for forgiveness. Please forgive me, and help me avoid sinning again. I believe that your son, Jesus Christ, died for my sins, was resurrected from the dead, is alive, and hears my prayer. I invite Jesus to become the Lord of my life, to rule and reign in my heart from this day forward. Please send your Holy Spirit to help me obey You, and to do Your will for the rest of my life. In Jesus' name I pray, Amen.

STATEMENT OF FAITH

1. We believe that there is one God, eternally existent in three Persons: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.
2. We believe that the Bible is inspired by the Holy Spirit and is the infallible and authoritative Word of God.
3. We believe that mankind was created in the image of God, and because of Adam and Eve's sin, and the continuing sin of every member of the human race, we deserve nothing but death and eternal damnation.
4. We believe in the deity and humanity of our Lord Jesus Christ, in His virgin birth, in His sinless life, in His miracles, in His vicarious and atoning sacrificial death, in His bodily resurrection, in His ascension to the Father, and in His soon coming return in power and glory.
5. We believe that salvation consists in the forgiveness of sins, the imputation of Christ's righteousness, and the gift of eternal life received by faith and not by works.
6. We believe in the present ministry of the Holy Spirit by whose indwelling we are called and empowered to live a godly life, and spread the good news of Jesus Christ.
7. We believe the true Church is composed of all believers in Christ, regardless of denominational affiliation.

We Can Always Be Thankful

A note from the editor...

Julie L. Schultz

Publisher/Editor

It's time to take a deep breath and clear my thoughts. So much has transpired since I last wrote to you. Things that brought giggle tears to my eyes as well as tears of sadness and frustration. But it's all okay. God's got this! Nothing surprises Him! As Christians and believers of God's capabilities we know this but even still...and I exhale slowly.

This scripture fits in perfectly with all this is happening right now. Apostle Paul couldn't have said it better and he may even have been imprisoned when he wrote this: Do not be anxious about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. Philippians 4:6

You may remember that I use to find loving families for exchange students and even hosted over twenty. Our country as well as Canada have official Thanksgiving holidays but many other countries have similar harvest or gratitude festivals in late autumn. Having teenagers from eleven different countries over several years and celebrating Thanksgiving was always exciting. Especially for the teenage boys. Wow, could they eat!

One Thanksgiving that stands out was with Salome (Republic of Georgia) and Jae (South Korea) in 2013. The other Thanksgiving was with Seri (South Korea) and Alejandro (Mexico) in 2014. The cheerfulness, helpfulness and camaraderie were fabulous! They had never heard of the 'wishbone' in a turkey but we all had great fun as they made their wishes and snapped the wishbone.

They shared my home for the entire school year and I still have many fond moments with them. Since they have transitioned into adult life we rarely make contact but I pray when they think of me, they smile and know that I'm still praying for them.

Have a blessed Thanksgiving season.

A Birthday Blessing for November

*And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this
the judgment.*

HEBREWS 9:27

At the End

However rich or poor you are,
How many years of life you spend,
Or whether you traveled near or far,
What matters most is at the end.

Now whether you have peace and rest,
Or you have many foes to fend,
Then after every trial and test,
What matters most is at the end.

You wonder what your life is worth
With every dip and every bend;
If you have had a second birth,
That really matters at the end.

It is appointed once to die,
And then before the Judge to stand;
You then will either smile or cry:
What matters most is at the end.

Now at this time, I wish for you
A birthday blessing, my dear friend,
That you have birthday number two;
That is what matters at the end.

Barnabas and Paul

Barnabas and Paul is a film with a new perspective on the spread of early Christianity.

The Apostle Paul is known as a pillar of the early church, but the key to his success was Barnabas. After his conversion, Saul's ministry was limited until Barnabas invited him to help with the church in Antioch, changing everything for Saul and the spread of Christianity. Their joint ministry became incredibly powerful as God used their backgrounds to open doors to share the Gospel. But the relationship between the two evangelists didn't last and they eventually parted ways.

This film explores the most credible facts about Barnabas's life by investigating religious traditions, meeting with historical and Biblical experts, and visiting many of the geographical sites important to his story. Join our journey to discover God's plan to reach the nations by using two men from different cultural backgrounds.

Letters to Stephanie

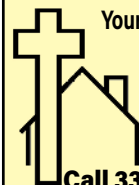

An unwed pregnant young woman is forced to give up for adoption her baby girl named Stephanie. The birth father and his mother are prevented from adopting Stephanie. Social Services permits the birth parents and the paternal grandmother to write letters without identifiable information for Stephanie's adoption file. Stephanie will be permitted to have a copy of her file after she's twenty-one. The only hope the grandmother has of ever seeing her granddaughter again is to put clues to the birth family's identity in her letter.

The grandmother and her son move forward, never again speaking of their pain from losing Stephanie. But separately, they share the same running prayer...that one day by some miracle they will see Stephanie again.

A few weeks ago, after church, I was talking to a stranger at the playground. He asked me to look at a couple of pictures on his phone. The first was a beautiful, full tree in glorious oranges and yellows, the picturesque hallmark of fall in this part of the country.

The next picture was same tree, green and lush with leaves, obviously taken in the summer. Looking in tip-top shape; eager to provide shade to anyone who sits or stands under it. Ready to be cut and used for protection in the building of a home or Noah's Ark. Or, the ultimate example of the type of strong tree the cross was cut from to be used to crucify our Jesus.

The last picture was a completely barren tree. The same tree. No leaves, just branches. No sign of life and yet, it wasn't dead. It was in the rebirth stage. A time of rest for the months before a springtime renewal. A reminder that letting yourself rest isn't useless, it means you're listening to and honoring your limits.

I've reached the middle of my sixties and have witnessed three basic types of people in my life. First, the Leaf People. They come into your life oh-so-briefly. They're brittle and crunchy and are not going to stick around long. The second are Branch People. They seem strong and steady, but will break under the pressure. They try to hang, but as life gets more difficult, they disappear in the slightest breeze. And, it's okay. As long as you realize they are Branch People and in your life for a season.

Lastly, are the Root People. As you imagine, they are the VIPs in life. These folks stay during tough times, with their faith firmly planted and ready to steady. They support, love and accept you for who you are. Root People stay, no matter the season. Root People are who you call when the chips are down.

Ecclesiastes is the perfect reminder to look for the gifts from God rather than earthly possessions. Seeing each day as a gift from God can shift your perspective. Instead of thinking of life as drudgery, you see it as something beautiful. You might read Ecclesiastes if you need a reminder to be grateful for each day.

His Divine Timing

There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heaven. A time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and a time to uproot, a time to kill and a time to heal, a time to tear down and a time to build, a time to weep and a time to laugh, a time to mourn and a time to dance, a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them, a time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing, a time to search and a time to give up, a time to keep and a time to throw away, a time to tear and a time to mend, a time to be silent and a time to speak, a time to love and a time to hate, a time for war and a time for peace.

ECCLESIASTES 3:1-8

November seems to drag on with less sunlight and early bedtimes, especially in Ohio. It helps to remember this time of year and the analogy of the trees. It's a time for rest, renewal and thanksgiving. A time to reflect on the last eleven months and how things can change quickly. With an accident, job loss, death or diagnosis. Each season was created for a purpose and today is the perfect time to give thanks for our blessings of faith and family.

A short story

The smell of greasy fries was exactly what Evan needed to forget about the turkey roasting in his grandma's oven and his family gathering around the table hundreds of miles away to thank God for all their blessings. This year, Evan was thankful that not all fast-food restaurants closed, so he could pretend it was a typical workday of traveling to sign contracts with clients willing to sell their mineral rights. Business as usual, he thought, as he punched in his order at the kiosk and took a seat by the window.

While waiting for his food, a frail woman holding the hand of a little girl clinging to a green stuffed animal entered the restaurant. The cold November air barged in behind them, tossing the girl's dark tresses in her face.

"Let's head to the restroom and wash up," the elderly woman said as the girl brushed the hair from her eyes.

Evan's food arrived on a tray, and he was left to bow his head alone in a place that felt as empty as his prayer. The wind rattled the window, his heart longing for the warmth of being at home with his family. Come on, keep it together, he thought as a lump formed in his throat. He had no idea how powerful loneliness could be at a time when it seemed everyone he knew had somewhere to go and someone to be with.

Evan reached for a napkin as a soft voice startled him.

"Do you like frogs too?" the little girl asked, holding up the tattered stuffed animal, her faded hoodie reaching past her knees. "This is my frog, Sampson."

The woman, who'd been digging in her purse, spotted the child. "Paisley!" The girl darted away as the older woman scolded her for wandering off and bothering Evan, who smiled, trying to show it was no bother. As the two headed for the door, Evan heard bits and pieces of their conversation.

"But I don't want to go."

"Remember what I told you?"

the woman whispered.

"But Grandma, my tummy—"

"I know, baby. Maybe tomorrow."

Evan's heart broke as they stepped into the foyer, their words disappearing. Without thinking, he raced after them.

"Excuse me," he said, holding the door open. "Would you like to have lunch with me? I'm really far from home, and since it's Thanksgiving and..." His words trailed off when he noticed a familiar kindness in the woman's eyes. "Sorry, you remind me of my grandma. Oh, and I'm Evan, by the way."

The little girl stepped forward. "I'm Paisley, and this is my grandma, but I can share her with you."

"Oh, you can?" her grandma teased as Evan laughed. "Well, that's awfully kind of you, young man, but we wouldn't want to impose."

"Please," he said. "My treat."

Moments later, while they gathered around their wrapped burgers and salty fries, Grace, the grandma on loan to Evan, prayed and thanked God for the angel He'd sent to bless them with a warm meal and for the countless ways He'd provided for them since the hurricane destroyed their home last month. She even asked God to bless her newly adopted grandson.

The lump returned to Evan's throat as he realized God had brought a sense of home, a sense of love and belonging to their small table this Thanksgiving, and he was beyond grateful.

So, while Paisley offered a French fry to Sampson, Evan grinned as he quietly thanked God for all the traveling he'd done, for the ways the Lord had blessed him and his family financially, and the house he'd spotted down the road that was for sale with a small pond. He was sure it would have frogs.

Steven Malcolm and Carly Ann Taylor

Steven Malcolm Finds Peace in His Savior on New Single 'Safe and Sound (In Your Love)'

Curb Records recording artist Steven Malcolm finds peace in his Savior on "Safe and Sound (In Your Love)," joined by Curb Records newcomer Carly Ann Taylor.

A heartfelt Christian worship song that speaks to the experience of finding peace and refuge in God's presence after a season of emotional struggle and isolation, "Safe and Sound (In Your Love)" reflects a journey through inner turmoil—when hope feels distant and tears have run dry—yet culminates in the profound realization that God has been there all along. Anchored by the powerful hook offered by Taylor, the song becomes a declaration of comfort, healing, and security found in the unwavering love of Christ.

"Safe And Sound" is a reminder that even in the darkest corners of my mind, love becomes the shelter I run to," shares Malcolm. "In Jesus' arms, the chaos quiets — and in His love I'm safe and sound."

Taylor adds, "This song is a declaration that joy is waiting with the sunrise. Sometimes the battles in our mind make us feel isolated and abandoned, but no matter how endless the trials might feel, there's always a way out and a life of peace and security ahead. In Jesus, we find the anchor of safety, shelter, and unfailing love."

Last month, Malcolm performed at the UK's Big Church Festival. Fans can also hear his current single, "Yes," featuring Curb Records band for KING + COUNTRY and KB across the airwaves as it continues to climb the Christian Airplay charts. And recently making her label debut, Curb Records novice Taylor released her powerful song, "Why Should I Worry (Remind Me Version)" earlier this month.

There's Always Room for One More

When I have a thankful heart I feel at peace,
Being filled with gratitude my words appease.
Singing songs of thankfulness my heart overflows
As I think about God's faithfulness, my love for Him grows!

Every day is an opportunity to see and receive God's grace. Also on "Thanksgiving Day" and throughout the human race. There's so much we can overlook as we get up each morn'; God opened our eyes, giving us life ever since we were born.

Angie Chapman
Millersburg, OH

It may be easy to find complaints in our life walk's journey, We certainly could list what we don't have or what we could be doing. Instead of always thinking about each passing regret, We can think on the good we did and on the missed-just forget!

God gives us each day with an abundance of harvest,
The God of our Salvation, daily loads us with benefits.
I have a list of what I'm thankful for.
I keep adding to it because I think of more!

I ponder on these things before I even get out of bed,
And all throughout the day before I lay down again, my head.
Many thankful and grateful times are in each day,
And with my words of "Blessed be the Lord!" I can say.

I also want to say that Jesus Christ is Lord!
Jesus' Birth, Death and Resurrection is what I'm thankful for!
It is God's plan of Salvation that every soul needs,
Jesus is the way, truth and life, with His bread He feeds.

Reflections this month can be on changes we need to make,
Putting God first as soon as we get awake!
Before we tackle our list of "to-do",
We can read the Bible and also pray too!

With food on our table God gives abundantly,
We're blessed so much, redeemed and free!
We can talk and laugh plus share some smiles,
With family and friends from across the miles.

Although we can't imagine what it's like in some places
Where food is often scarce with many sad faces.
We can take for granted what we don't realize,
Each day what we have that we see with our eyes.

God gives with no remorse forgiveness with amazing love,
To those who ask and will believe in His only begotten Son!
Salvation is a Thanksgiving thing
Given by Jesus Christ the King!

As we gather around our tables this year,
Let's also remember our loved ones not here.
Now Jesus is our Good Shepherd and holds all our tears,
He will never leave us, He comforts and our hearts Jesus hears.

Let's pray for one another and give a caring hug,
It's the "Thanksgiving way" we're all a part of!
Let's thank God for Jesus and all of His provisions so many...
And there's always room for one more whose heart for Jesus is ready!

It's that time of year again when our hearts turn toward gratitude and reflection. This year, especially here in Ohio, we are learning a lesson from God about thankfulness. Autumn has always been a time of crisp air, colorful leaves, and cozy evenings. Yet this year, the landscape looks different. Many leaves remain green or have fallen too soon, the vibrant colors muted by drought. Still, in this less-than-perfect season, we are reminded that life doesn't always have to look ideal for us to be thankful. In Daniel 3:18a we are reminded "But even if He does not rescue us..." Holy Bible CSB. Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego told King Nebuchadnezzar that even if God did take them out of the situation, they would not bow down and worship the idols he had created. Life didn't look perfect for those three at all... they were asked to walk into a fire with no protection, to trust God. They did just that, Christ walked through the fire with them.

Our family went through a tough valley this past summer when our eldest daughter experienced a traumatic injury. In the days that followed, we had to find a way forward in God, and learned thankfulness at God's provision, protection, and love. Finding joy in the unknown, knowing that even if things didn't heal, even when the summer looked different than planned, that God was still good and we could trust Him and be thankful. I don't say that lightly, or because everything ended up okay, even though it did. I say "be thankful" because we had to live in moments when our emotions and thoughts could not handle it, not knowing if there would be healing, or some future burdens that would need to be carried in the days ahead. We were still thankful, and saw God in every step we took, His care and love for us was so deep, that it truly took our breath away, even when things still were very scary. We are reminded in Titus 4:4 For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with thanksgiving. Holy Bible ESV. All things can be viewed with thanksgiving and joy, and that will allow the peace of God to permeate all that we go through.

As we enter this Thanksgiving season — with its gatherings, laughter, and tables full of good food — may we remember that gratitude isn't just for the easy days. It's also for the moments when the leaves don't turn bright, when the plans fall apart, and when we walk through fire. Because in every circumstance, God is faithful.

I'd like to share a special recipe that reminds me of that faithfulness. This pumpkin cake has been a family favorite for years — so much so that it was served at my bridal shower. It's a reminder that sweetness can come even after the hardest seasons. This recipe is from my mom, Lucy Ricklic.

Pumpkin Cake

- 1 box yellow cake mix (1 cup set aside).
- Melt 1 stick butter and mix with 1 egg and the cake mix (minus the 1 cup).
- Pat into a greased 9x13 pan.
- Mix 1 can pumpkin pie mix (NOT plain pumpkin), 2 eggs, 2/3 cup evaporated milk.
- Pour this mixture on cake base.
- With 1 cup cake mix set aside, add ¼ cup sugar, ¼ cup cold butter and 1 tsp cinnamon, mix until crumbly and sprinkle on top.
- Bake 350 for 45-50 minutes
- Chill after cooled and top with whip cream.

A CHRISTIAN BOOK REVIEW

I Will Give Thanks: 90 Days to a More Grateful Heart

By Becky Shannon

Book Review By

Uhrichsville, OH

Gratitude. "Gratitude is an invitation, not an obligation." (Shannon, back cover) In this devotional, artist and author Becky Shannon invites you on a journey to help remind you that God's goodness is all around whether your heart is full or your needs are many. When you have a grateful heart and you're choosing to know God better and grow your relationship with Him, regardless of what's going on in your life, you will begin to experience more contentment, hope, and peace. Those are simply the side effects of gratitude! On a personal note, I do know that keeping a gratitude list posted on my refrigerator is a powerful tool that I use regularly to help keep my depression at bay. I try to notice the smallest things that I see around me to remind me that God is good in every way.

Obviously, I was drawn to this book because having a "more grateful heart" is something I intentionally try to do. The author states that "A grateful heart is not simply a heart that says thank you. It is a heart that recognizes and believes in the goodness of God." (Shannon, pg. 1) I say "Amen" to that!

"The Hebrew word for gratitude means to 'recognize the good.'" I love that, because who is good all the time? God is. (Shannon, pg. 15) In this uplifting book you will find 90 days' worth of encouraging messages with Bibles verses, gratitude prayers, and original artwork by the author. In each devotion, the author shares her daily struggles and the tiny moments when she is able to find reasons to give thanks regardless of the circumstances. Stress can often blind us to gifts God has placed in front of us. Chaos and exhaustion can do the same. Grief and loss are also reasons we find it difficult to be thankful. The thing is that if we can take our eyes off ourselves and our situations and put them on God, we can begin to see His goodness. And when we stop lumping together all the things we're thankful for and take the time to name them one by one, we are able to bring attention to God's generosity and His faithfulness over and over again." (Shannon, pg. 52) Ask God to show you the goodness in your situation, and let Him speak to your heart! "Every time you read His word and take time to pray, you learn to recognize God and His goodness in both good and bad circumstances." (Shannon, pg. 15)

At the front of this book, you will find a Table of Contents which lists the titles of each devotion found in the book. It's a great resource and this sweet little book's charming artwork is calming and the gratitude prayers are touching. This is one of my favorite prayers:

*Lord, thank You for going before me and fighting my battles.
Thank You that I don't have to fear what anyone can do to me, because You are with me. You have never left me, even when I didn't acknowledge Your presence.
I'm so grateful You haven't given up on me!
You are so good and faithful to me, always.
Help me be bold in sharing Your goodness and truth with others.
I want to be a light for You!
In Jesus' name, Amen.
(Shannon, pg. 179)*

Becky Shannon loves to encourage others through her inspiring art and hand-lettered messages. A mother of five and a veteran's wife, she and her family live in Central Illinois.

I am not a hoarder; however, I cling to items that are so dear to my heart. These items include the baby shoes that belonged to my boys, an angel pin from my granddaughter when she was five years old, my first Christmas gift from her, my deceased mothers pearl necklace and my deceased fathers Bible from when he was in the army. I've also saved many photos.

I treasure all those items in my heart and cling to their memories. Matthew 6:19, 21 tells us this: Do not store up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy. For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also. My heart holds wonderful treasures from our Father God that nobody can steal from me. These treasures will never rust or be destroyed.

These are treasured gifts He bestows on everyone. His steadfast love endures forever. His joy is unspeakable and full of glory. His peace passeth all understanding. May we always find hope in every situation.

Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost. Romans 15:13

As the season of Advent approaches and in the new year may you be blessed with His love, joy, peace and hope.

A Thankful Heart

Henry, a widower in his nineties, shivered as he buttoned up his wool sweater. It was November and he could tell the weather was changing because his body ached from the cold. He reached for his walker and slowly made his way to the living room.

He opened the curtains of his large picture window and reached for his binoculars. He watched as people opened the glass door of the box.

The council members, in the small village where he lived, placed a food distribution box across the street. It was an area of the village where many low-income families lived.

Henry kept an eye on it and informed the council when food was getting low. He enjoyed seeing the people and hoped they were being helped. He was reminded of his own childhood and how difficult it was to feed a family of seven. Many days, he felt the hunger pangs of not having enough.

In Henry's small area of the village, he knew nearly everyone's name. Some often visited him on summer days as he sat on his porch swing. He pulled up his chair and watched as many took from the box. He saw little Billy, the seamstress's son, Joann, the hairdresser's daughter, and, oh, here comes Faith, a single mom raising five little ones on her own since her husband, Ted, died from a coal-mining accident last year. They were all gathering items for the holiday.

Since it was nearing Thanksgiving, the council wanted to do something special. They knew many of the folks were struggling with the cost of living on the rise, so they put turkey vouchers in the box so those in need could have a turkey for Thanksgiving. Those who were disabled or elderly would receive their voucher in the mail.

Henry watched people collect their vouchers. He thought that he had seen everyone take a voucher, but then Faith came to the box. When she opened the envelope, it was empty. She closed the glass door, and Henry saw her wipe her eyes as she walked away.

"How could the council have miscounted?" Henry thought. He was saddened to think that Faith and her children would not have a turkey this year. He reached for his walker and proceeded to his dining room table, where he placed his mail. He looked for the envelope from the village council. To his surprise, he pulled out two vouchers. They must have stuck together and one belonged to Faith.

He called Frank, his driver, and asked if he could come over. When he arrived, Henry told him the story about the voucher and asked Frank if he would deliver the voucher to Faith. Frank smiled, "Of course, I will," he replied.

Soon, Frank arrived at Faith's little house and knocked at the door. When she answered, her five little ones peeked from the window, pressing their noses against the glass. Frank handed her the envelope. She gasped when she saw what was inside. It was a turkey voucher, but wait, there was a letter attached. It was an invitation for Thanksgiving dinner. Faith smiled. It was from Henry. She knew him well. He spent many nights on the phone consoling her when her husband died. "Frank, please tell Henry that we accept."

When Thanksgiving Day arrived, Henry was the happiest of all. He loved to cook, and now he would not spend the day alone. Faith and her children gathered around the beautiful table filled with food, and they all gave thanks.

*Give thanks in all circumstances;
for this is God's will for you in Christ Jesus.*

Changed in Ukraine: How a Mission Trip Wrecked Me in the Best Way Possible

Erik Frederickson
New Philadelphia, OH

been reported. The devastation is mind-boggling, and the war continues, with Russia now having taken control of roughly twenty percent of Ukraine.

On October 1st, I returned home with a team of fifteen from a ten-day mission trip to the war-torn nation of Ukraine. I'll never be the same. It's easy to take our comfortable life here in the United States for granted, but after serving and ministering to these tormented people for a week and a half straight, I will never take our blessed life for granted again.

When we asked an elderly woman who had just passed through the line for soup and bread what we could pray for, our interpreter explained that she was asking for prayers for her grandson, who was on the front lines and had been missing for a week. You could feel the pain, panic, and fear resting on her like a wet blanket.

After praying, we asked the next woman, "What can we pray for you?" Our translator replied, "She wants you to pray for her husband, who was just forced into three weeks of boot camp and sent to the front lines." We prayed for the people of Ukraine for ten straight days at multiple feedings, outreaches, and church meetings.

On the third day of taking the Gospel to the people of Southeast Ukraine, a small city was hit with a drone strike just an hour north of us. One person died, and two were injured. The very next day, we were heading three hours north to the residue of the explosion.

The thought of living in a country where a missile could take your life at any moment was jarring. After arriving in Odessa, we spent an hour walking around the downtown area, which is being hit multiple times a week at night with strikes in attempts to take out its port and cripple its infrastructure.

Over the course of our time in the country, our team prayed for hundreds of refugees and fear-riddled people. We saw our Savior heal, save, and deliver countless individuals.

Our glorious Lord proclaimed in Luke 4:18, The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because He has anointed me to preach the Gospel to the poor; He has sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed.

In John 20:21, our King gives us our marching orders, So Jesus said to them again, 'Peace to you! As the Father has sent Me, I also send you.' I don't need to return to Ukraine to minister to the broken, as our county has many who need His touch. Our county is not being hit with missiles, but the pain the enemy inflicts is ever-present right here.

Imagine if all the believers in this county simply stopped for one person a day and shared the love and power of God. How fast would this county be transformed?

city of Odessa to feed and minister to refugees and wounded soldiers in a hospital. Seeing that the previous night's drone strike was in a city right on the route to our destination, we stopped to take a look and pray for the city. As we approached the bomb site, windows were blown out of buildings within a few hundred feet of the blast. At the exact place of impact, we could still smell the

God's Masterpiece: Unveiling Your Identity in Christ

Elizabeth Morris
Age 16
Uhrichsville, OH

Growing up in today's world can be like a battlefield for us young girls. We are constantly bombarded with messages from social media, school, movies, and influencers. These voices often dictate who we should be, what we should look like, and how we should live.

In such a season of life, we must not seek our identity from the world, but rather from the One who created us—God. Teen girls need to know their identity in Christ because it provides a foundation for their self-worth and self-esteem. Having a rock-solid understanding of your identity in Christ is essential to living your life in the way He intended. It helps us to understand our true value and purpose, which is rooted in our relationship with God. You don't have to work to fit in or be someone you're not. Jesus has rescued you, redeemed you, and brought you into His family forever. You are a completely new person and perfect in His eyes!

Our true identity is not found in popularity, followers, or appearance; it is found in Christ alone. When we begin to understand this concept, we become unshakable. We also realize that we no longer need to measure up to impossible worldly standards. Instead, we can stand firm in the truth of who we are. This is where faith plays a crucial role. By embracing God's truth, we can navigate life's challenges with confidence. We become empowered to reject the lies of the world and embrace our unique identities.

Knowing who you are in Christ is so important. Knowing that you are a new creation when you accept Jesus, you become a new creation (2 Corinthians 5:17). This means your past mistakes and failures do not define you; instead, you are seen as pure and valuable in God's eyes.

Knowing you are loved and accepted: God loves you unconditionally (Romans 5:8). This love is not based on your performance or achievements but is a gift that you can always rely on.

You have a purpose: Jeremiah 29:11 states that God has great plans for you, created to do good works. Understanding that you have a unique purpose can help you navigate life's challenges with confidence. Embracing your identity in Christ is a transformative journey that can significantly impact your life as a teen.

I know who I am. I stand firm in my identity in Christ: I am loved, chosen, and fully accepted. I am delivered and forgiven. I am the daughter of the King, victorious and beautiful. I am God's masterpiece, a cherished child of God, a citizen of heaven, and I walk in total freedom, free from condemnation.

So who are you in Christ? Are you going to accept the misleading narratives of the world around you, or will you choose to embrace your true identity found in him? Step boldly into your faith and uncover the incredible person you are meant to be, one shaped by love, purpose, and divine guidance. Remember, your worth is defined by His love, not by worldly standards. Stand firm in that truth, and watch how it transforms your life.

Grace Noll Crowell (1877-1969) was a prolific and popular writer of inspirational verses when I was growing up in the 1950s. Besides publishing dozens of poetry books, her works appeared in hundreds of magazines and newspapers, on greeting cards, and in hymnals.

My first introduction to Mrs. Crowell's poetry was in an Ideals magazine. This glossy seasonal publication was filled with full-color artwork, essays, and poetry with traditional homey themes. I still recall that Thanksgiving issue with scenes of fall-colored trees, golden mums, and bright orange pumpkins. There were photos of bountiful harvests and turkey-laden dinner tables with cheerful people gathered around.

You could almost smell the yeasty aroma of the bread in one picture. The poem that accompanied it was called The Shared Loaf. Even as a ten-year-old, I grasped the truth in the humble verses. They described how sharing with others enhances the bread's flavor and value. Eating in solitude can meet the need to feed our bodies, but our spirits are nourished when we break bread together.

That poem and the sentiment it embodies came to mind over the years every time our holiday tables were graced with extended family, friends, and acquaintances who might otherwise have to eat alone. Oh, how fellowship enriches our lives!

In the book of John, Jesus calls himself the Bread of Life, true, eternal, and living. He is the Essential Bread, coming from the Heavenly Father and giving life to the world. Those who come to Him will not hunger or thirst. Those who put their trust in Him will live forever.

I don't pretend to have all the answers to the problems plaguing our lost and dying world. But I know without a doubt that there is a Light in the darkness, and Jesus is that Light. He already paid the price and is waiting to take the hand of all who reach out to Him. He longs to lead them to a better place than they can imagine. I want everyone to have the hope of a better world, a safe place where they can experience the love they were created for.

I've learned that sharing Jesus with others is a sure way to deepen my relationship with Him. It might start with the simple act of sharing a meal or an invitation to church. I can support an orphan in a faraway country, write a devotional, or be a friend to someone who needs one. I want others to know the peace and clarity that comes from trusting in the One who walks with me through the hard times and loves me with an everlasting love. Why not join me in sharing your loaf?

The Shared LOAF

*And Jesus said to them, "I am the bread of life.
He who comes to Me shall never hunger, and
He who believes in Me shall never thirst."*

John 6:35 (NKJV)

There must be something in human nature that makes us want to discover secret knowledge. I'm not talking about the hunger for general knowledge and scientific discovery that has improved the human condition. I'm talking about our desire to possess secret knowledge that makes us feel like an elite member of the human race.

There is no more fertile ground for obtaining secret knowledge than attempting to find hidden meanings in the Scriptures. After all Jesus said in regard to his use of parables, "Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand." See Matthew 13:13-16. However, in that same chapter, Jesus explains a couple of the parables and they are not difficult to understand and make perfect sense.

There are multiple instances

"Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand."

MATTHEW 13:13-16

down through the history of the church where different groups "found" hidden meanings in the Scriptures to support their doctrines. Last month we learned a little about the Gnostics. The Gnostics claimed to have secret knowledge passed down to them from the Apostle Paul.

Irenaeus explains the basics of the Gnostic world view as taught by Valentinus in Book One of Against Heresies. The Gnostics taught that there were 30 Aeons that were divine beings. "Aeon" or "Aion" is the Greek term for a long period of time or an "age." The Gnostics reinterpreted the word from signifying a period of time to refer to an actual divine being. The first Aeon, the Father, was eternal and the other Aeons emanated from the Father. They found proof of this in Luke 3:23, Jesus when he began his ministry was about thirty years of age... They found further proof of this in the parable of the laborers in Matthew 20:1-16 since if you add up all the hours that the various groups of laborers worked, they add up to 30. The Gnostics also found great significance in the number 12 (Jesus' age when he visited the temple, and also the number of disciples), and the number 18 (which they get by assigning numbers to the first two Greek letters of Jesus' name) which add up to 30. That proved that there are 30 Aeons! It's hard to believe that they really taught that but they did. You can assign numerical values to words or letters and manipulate those numbers to say virtually anything.

There are multiple problems with the hidden meaning phenomenon. First and foremost, a good God does not practice deception. A good God does not give us Scriptures where the plain meaning is misleading and is designed to keep us in ignorance until some learned human guide points out the hidden meaning. I Timothy 2:3-6 says that God wants all people to come to the knowledge of the truth.

Secondly, it is common that the learned guide, who has the secret knowledge, is often trying to benefit from the relationship with the ignorant student. That could be as simple as getting money from the student (which was common among the Gnostics), selling books and otherwise benefiting financially, or worse, using the position to practice cult-like abuses of the students.

Lastly, believing that we have superior knowledge of the hidden truths of Scripture strokes our egos. It is an unhealthy pride that leads us away from the truth. II Timothy 4:3 says that people will not endure sound teaching and will accumulate for themselves teachers to suit their passions. We must resist the temptation to waste time and energy searching for hidden meanings and secret knowledge while we fail to put into practice the obligations of the Christian life revealed in the plain words of Scripture.

The anticipation of Thanksgiving was in the air as you heard people talk about the upcoming holiday. We always ate well on the farm, but the meal on Thanksgiving Day was a very special treat. With all the delightful smells of food, you couldn't help but be thankful.

It didn't matter what day it was on the farm; the animals always had to be fed. But on Thanksgiving Day, giving all the cows, pigs, chickens, dogs and cats a little extra food was another way of saying thanks.

The feeding chores on Thanksgiving morning seemed to go a lot quicker than other mornings because, when we finished, there would be a wonderful extra special breakfast waiting for us.

With many neighbors and friends coming for a visit, we were in full holiday mode! These feelings of celebration were going to last through Christmas and New Year's Day. Enjoying all the festivities did not happen without the rationale and understanding for all the fun! We were always made to know the "why" of each holiday.

1 THESSALONIANS 5:18 NIV

At Christmas time, with the reading of Luke 2:1-20 in the Bible and the many activities at church, we all knew that we were celebrating the birth of Jesus Christ.

Giving to someone in need, as well as our friends and neighbors, was a way of showing thanks for all the blessings we had received throughout the year. With so much excitement, our love of the Lord grew and grew.

Because of those lessons from the farm, our holiday season today still begins the day before Thanksgiving and ends the day after New Year's Day. It's over thirty days of celebration! We put up and decorate the Christmas tree on the day before Thanksgiving and enjoy it all the way to January.

What Christians Must Know

Diane Kalajainen
New Castle, PA

There is so much suffering in the body of Christ around the world. Unfortunately, the news media does not cover the atrocities committed in various countries.

Let's consider Afghanistan. We heard about and saw pictures of the combat there and the withdrawal of American troops. After that we heard very little about that country. Because of the economic situation, there is much poverty. The Taliban rules. Many parents are desperate and cannot adequately feed their families. Consequently, many are forced to sell their little girls as child "brides" to older men for money to buy food. Poverty and starvation result in desperate means that most of us will never totally understand or experience. What overwhelming sadness and tragedy!

However, Back to Jerusalem brought a glimmer of hope. In September, 2024, a mother sold her little daughter. Her husband was killed, and she was heartbroken. A little later this woman came to know Jesus. Somehow this story became known to Christians in other countries. Prayer meetings were held for the release of this little one. Through God's mercy and work behind the scenes, this little one was returned to her mother. It was a time of rejoicing! But, can you imagine the trauma this little one experienced? We need to care about these little ones.

Now, let's turn to India. One day a group of young women were talking after church. They were standing in a public place in the day time. Police were observing them and requested information from them. Suddenly a group of Hindu extremists came onto the scene. The women entered the church basement. They were accosted by these men. They wanted to take the girls for physical pleasure. They continued to abuse those lovely Christian girls and threatened to attack them and make them march through the streets disrobed. Frightened, the girls went to the police but they were not willing to help. This is happening in 2025. In 2023 horrific acts were performed against Christian women of India. I do not want to describe those atrocities.

It is easy to close our eyes to the suffering of little girls and young Christian women in faraway lands. But as Back to Jerusalem states, "These are our sisters in Christ." BTJ exhorts us to pray for these girls. Also, the more we pray and share, the more believers will be awakened to what is happening to the body of Christ

We are told in I Corinthians 12:26, we as believers are a part of the entire body of Christ.

*If one part suffers,
every part
suffers with it...*

The Church Hurt Problem

Anastasia Merritt
New Philadelphia, OH

I am no stranger to church hurt. I've been raised in church all my life, and I've seen more than my fair share for my age. And being honest, my most recent round nearly knocked me out of church altogether. Thank God that He gives the grace and strength, and this time, slow healing needed to keep going.

But something burdening my heart on this subject, is that it's an issue not being addressed. Christians are quick to tell hurting Christians that we need to shove this issue under the rug. To hide it and never talk about it. To just act like it never happened and move on as quickly as possible. And the result is a lot of believers fade away from the scene, never darkening the door of a church again. Pastors, ministry workers, and faithful people who could be a blessing to the Lord's work, just cut out from anything associated with God's house and the brethren at all, because we already feel hurt, confused, asking God all the "why" questions, and then are told to not bring it up or talk about it, or that we imagined things.

To be clear, I'm not talking about a person who feels snubbed because the busy Pastor forgot to shake his hand. I mean deep down, genuine church hurt. David, the Psalmist, puts it best in Psalm 55:12-14, "For it was not an enemy that reproached me; then I could have borne it: neither was it he that hated me that did magnify himself against me; then I would have hid myself from him: But it was thou, a man mine equal, my guide, and mine acquaintance. We took sweet counsel together, and walked unto the house of God in company." (KJV) What a deep shock and hurt it is when we are hurt by our brothers and sisters in Christ, the very people we are sure we will have lifelong fellowship and friendship with! The people that we think we will serve together with as long as Jesus tarries. It's a deep, deep hurt, to our very soul.

We need to start being unafraid to talk about it, and to let those hurting talk about it. The only way to really bring about this healing, outside of God's grace and strength, is to be a willing listener. To be a real brother/sister in Christ and own up ourselves in not just showing genuine Christian care and concern, but owning up to our own mistakes and realize that we may have, knowingly or not, really hurt someone ourselves.

With the holiday season upon us, would you ask the Lord if He would lay on your heart someone you know that has been church-hurt? Would you reach out to them and be willing to make amends and be a true brother/sister in Christ?

Churches will not grow if we won't own up and be willing to listen, learn, and care for each other.

We're supposed to be the family of God. Are we willing to be a family? "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ." Galatians 6:2 KJV

Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.

Galatians 6:2 KJV

The Easy Yoke of the Cross

Matt Ritzert
Dover, OH

In the Gospel of Matthew, we read two passages that, on the surface, can appear to be contradictory. In chapter 16, Matthew writes:

"Then Jesus told his disciples, 'If anyone would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me. For whoever would save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will find it. For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world and forfeits his soul? Or what shall a man give in return for his soul?' (New International Version)

That can sound pretty demanding, given the fact that the cross was a horrific method used by the Romans to execute people. Think about the electric chair or a firing squad. Are we expected to strap ourselves into an electric chair or face a firing squad? Are we all expected to die in the name of Jesus? Are we all expected to face torture and be martyrs?

Earlier in Matthew, the evangelist writes in chapter 11;

"Come to me, all who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." (New International Version)

So, which is it? Take up your cross, deny yourself, suffer, and die in the name of Jesus? Or come to Jesus and find rest, comfort, and a light burden?

It's both. It's both because of love. Jesus transforms the cross from an instrument of execution into an instrument of love. Jesus dying on the cross is an act of love. An act of love to save others. And He is calling upon us to take up that cross of love. He is calling upon us to sacrifice ourselves, to give ourselves to others in love. To deny ourselves is to give up our own selfish desires in order to love one another, to will the good of the other. To take up our cross and follow Jesus is to lose ourselves in God's love. And it is God's love that gives us rest and lightens our burden. God's love comforts us. When we give up ourselves in the name of God's love, His love comes back to us a hundredfold. And it is God's love that brings us rest and makes our burden light under the shade of His wings. When I take up His cross and follow Him, I give myself to others and shed myself of my worries and anxieties. When I help and love others, I turn away from myself toward the common good. I find rest and comfort in helping the poor, giving to charity, praying for the unloved. The cross is love and its yoke is easy.

National Collection Week NOV 17-24, 2025

"Let the children
come to Me;
do not hinder them,
for to such belongs the kingdom of God."

Mark 10:14, ESV

The mission of Operation Christmas Child is to demonstrate God's love in a tangible way to children in need around the world. Through this project, Samaritan's Purse partners with the local church worldwide to share the Good News of Jesus Christ and make disciples of the nations.

The Greatest Journey

Seeking to follow Jesus' command to "make disciples of all the nations" (Matthew 28:19), we have trained over 1.7 million volunteers from these congregations to teach The Greatest Journey, our dynamic follow-up discipleship course for shoebox recipients. Since 2009, 35.4 million children have enrolled in this 12-lesson program to learn how to follow Christ and share Him with others. More than 17.4 million of these boys and girls have made a decision to accept Jesus as their Savior during the course. Many are now praying for and sharing their faith with family and friends. As a result of this ever-expanding witness, new churches are starting and communities are being transformed!

God is Growing You Through the Years

Emily Price
Bolivar, OH

Recently, I attended the Canal Town Book Festival in Dover which features a variety of self-published authors in a space to share their work with others. In a breakout session, I learned in depth some of the options that authors can take to delve into the world of self-publishing and how they can best use their resources to do so.

One author in particular had a background in TV or Media from college and used their audio engineering skills to create their own audiobook. The other author used her art skills familiarity with cover art working in the library to design her own cover for a teen book.

From the discussions on the topics, I was reminded of the skills I built up over the years that could help me publish my own story too! I had forgotten how as a student assistant in college I helped a marketing manager put out press kits and mail out copies to review manuscripts and assisted an editor with reviewing people's writing. I helped organize the interior format of a student book and made decisions on the cover as well. It was a challenging experience, but a rewarding one to see something that once lived on a document become a physical collection of student poems, short stories, and more.

I think I realized in that moment, after the festival, recently the greatest obstacle I was facing was myself on my road to personally publishing a book of my own. My motivation. My perfectionistic tendencies.

Perhaps like in my writing life, the same is true for my walk with God. Throughout life, God has been shaping me and building me with tools and help through the strength of His Spirit.

However, I am often the one who stops myself from making further progress in my walk with Him through my doubt, perfectionistic tendencies, and even my questioning and misunderstandings of who God is. I am thankful that God is faithful when I am not and that He will help me and strengthen me.

Birthday Wishes and Salutations

Dr. Lyman O.
Baier, Sr
Walnut Creek, OH

"Tis the season" for gathering around the table, the Church and the Christmas Tree. We will chase for the "biggest turkey" "a front seat in Church" and the tallest tree we can squeeze into the house. We will travel far and wide to gather in family big and small so we have the best Christmas ever. Aunts and Uncles will come from near and far and if they cannot, we get out those "Cards-of-the-season," search for the right postal stamp and "remember to mail-early!"

I just experienced one of those days, "A Birthday! Number Ninety-two; yes I said 92!"

The first card came from my Wife, "From Mrs. Long-time for Mr. Long-time!" That is one which will be a keeper, backed up by a second card for the fun of it!

The third was a Donkey. If you are a follower of The Outreacher you will remember my article about Don Quixote, which was a rewrite by a person currently living and working in Saudi Arabia where both my wife and I also worked for three plus years. The next card showed two wild horses at full gallop. Made me realize this was totally not in my ability at 92! This was followed by "Linus" for happiness.

Then I got one with a little boy on a 3-wheeler with a seat. It reminded me not only of my actual age but also that I had always wanted a Cushman motor scooter. Never got one! (sigh) This changed into a butterfly followed by two Lakota children with peace and blessings gifts. The next one was a lonely camel from the Saudi Arabian desert who seems to be lost in that desert. The card came from close friends who worked with us there. Lots of memories.

And then, a wish from Isaiah 32:18 And my people shall dwell in peaceable habitation, and in my sure dwellings and in quiet resting places. Along came a wish for another year of unforgettable memories and Psalm 95:2 Let us come into His presence and make a joyful noise to him with songs and praise. Following was a call from Timothy 4:12 To be the example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, and in purity.

My oldest son gave me a wish that my birthday cake will be visible from space for a long time. Then a wish from old friends following the same trail.

A very special one from a very young team of children and their leaders as they learn and listen to the Word of God and the sound of music calling from God's House. Their acts of thanks to me was a handmade large card saying "Happy Birthday." They said it was large so I could put it in my window at home! And, a dear friend in church gave me a special reminder cup quoting from the Gospel of Matthew, "I am with you always."

But the best of all was seeing my whole family, wife, kids and grandkids, all here in our church, filling a pew and a half, celebrating not only my birthday but also worshipping and praising God!

Psalm 95:2

Let us come into his presence and make a joyful noise.

Give Thanks; Always Give Thanks

Al Beatty
Angola, IN

I have learned and grown spiritually from Joyce Meyer's writings and lectures. I have been moved so much by her that my wife and I saw her live in Columbus several years ago. That says a lot because we aren't too fond of large crowds!

One decade ago, at this time of the year, I was in a quagmire. I was employed, but I was one of those whom they would call as underemployed. Resources were tight. My wife had a cleaning business and most of the time her clients were in the city over an hour away. Fortunately, there was one in our town who employed her every other Monday. Since I was underemployed, I would often help; there were great memories we shared working together.

I can't count the number of times that $40 fee she earned pulled us out of a mess. We were able to obtain the minimum for a meal by purchases at Save-A-Lot and fuel for the next day. Since she was self-employed and was paid daily, we just needed to get through that day. And God provided!

As Thanksgiving was approaching, I noticed a Joye Meyer devotional at Barnes & Noble I had not seen before. It was called The Power of Being Thankful. It jumped out at me with the fall colors of leaves all over the book.

In the cover it quoted I Thessalonians 5:18 Give thanks in all circumstances; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you.

That verse hit me like a ton of bricks! Preceding verses 16 and 17, respectively, state Rejoice always and Pray without ceasing.

I was "in and out" with my faith during those dark months, but by God's grace He got us through until I had a breakthrough with a permanent position in January of 2016.

I clung to that devotional and read it faithfully. It is the most dog-earned and marked up daily devotional I own! In fact, I took a journey through the devotional again a couple of years ago; I am sure I will in a future year.

I have other devotionals by Joyce Meyer and many evangelists, but this one really stuck. I always think about it this time of year.

As the holiday of Thanksgiving approaches with feasts, family gatherings, and football we should put this day in the proper context of what it is all about. We should also on a daily basis give thanks to the Lord at all times.

The "bookend" to this thought might be Romans 8:28 And we know that for those who love God all things work together for good, for those who are called according to His purpose.

So, this Thanksgiving dwell on the true purpose of the holiday and take that in your heart on a daily basis thanking God for all blessings in whatever circumstance you may find.

When You Better Not Do It

For the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Romans 6:23

Pastor
Cathy Hawkins
Dover, OH

How many times must one be warned not to commit a wrong action or sin?

It is like a child being taught not to touch a hot stove because they will get burnt. There are always going to be consequences for doing wrong.

According to when God says "you better not do it", well, you better not do it, or else! There are two forces in this world you must contend with either God or Satan.

Remember God is always for your good, and Satan is always for your bad. In the end, God wants you in Heaven, and Satan wants you in hell.

God allows us to make the choice, chose God while you can, Eternal Blessings.

The House of Hope Needs Your Help!

Currently we have raised $4,300,000 but we are in desperate need of pledges totaling $1,200,000 by the end of this year to complete construction. We are hoping to be ready to open the facility to residents by Christmas 2025 at which point we will still be in need of operating funds to keep the facility open. We are putting our faith and trust in God. All gifts, no matter the size, are needed!

Offering A Hand-Up Not Just A Hand-Out

The shelter staff works with the guests by providing training to improve life skills, therapy, counseling, Bible study and more. Our goal is to find them permanent housing and employment within five months. The Friends of the Homeless also serves hundreds of additional people in the community with meals, clothing and hygiene products. Eighty-five percent of our residents are from Tuscarawas County and the other 15% are from surrounding counties. We believe we can be an asset to our community by giving the homeless of our county a way off the streets.

We Are So Grateful

We have been working on this project for 3 1/2 years, but it is beyond our ability and resources so we are trusting the generosity of our community, donations and God to help us achieve this goal. We would like to take a moment to thank all the individuals who have already donated time, food or given a monetary donation to the shelter. If you are willing to make a tax deductible contribution to our building fund or operating fund, please contact Calvin White at the shelter 330-602-6100, Jeff Mathias at 330-827-1038, or Matt Ritzert at 330-827-5710. We are willing to meet with any civic organizations or churches about our shelter and our needs.

We are grateful that we can focus on the good not the bad in people's lives.

Jack's House of Hope was named after Jack Ream who is 94 years old. The name was derived from the meaning of the word Hope "believing the best is ahead for others" We want to restore hope and enrichment in the lives of the less fortunate individuals in our community.

Warming the World One Scarf at a Time!

The Scarf Project is gearing up for another successful year of warming the world one scarf at a time, according to Aimee Rufener, co-coordinator of the project.

The number of individuals who have donated hats and scarves so far this year has been amazing. The talent that each volunteer has is out of this world.

The entire project is volunteer driven, with knitters and crocheters making items that are then donated to the Scarf Project. On Scarf Day, the items are delivered to various locations throughout the county where they are tied to fences, posts, gazebos, etc., and easily available to those who need a little help keeping warm during the cold weather.

The Scarf Project accepts donations throughout the year of yarn, finished hats, scarves, mittens and gloves. There are no requirements except that the items must be new. Volunteers provide and deliver the donated yarn to those who need it and pick up finished items as requested.

Donations of yarn and completed items can also be dropped off at the Claymont Library located at 215 E 3rd St in Uhrichsville. Items can be dropped off during library hours or in the after-hours drop off bin located at the back of the library.

FRIENDS of the Homeless OF TUSCARAWAS COUNTY

The Friends of the Homeless Shelter in New Philadelphia helps to provide a safe and reliable place for Tuscarawas County residents who have no reliable shelter. We have a 36-bed capacity and waiting list of people from the community in need of our services. Our goal is to assist individuals in achieving stable, safe, and reliable housing to anyone experiencing any type of housing insecurity.

We have a volunteer program which helps our daily operations. We are currently in need of individuals, service organizations, and churches who can provide a nightly meal on a monthly basis or can volunteer their time in our offices. Anyone interested in providing a meal, or volunteering their time can contact our volunteer coordinator, Maria Rila, at 330-602-6100 for more information.

We also rely on donations from the community to help keep our shelter programs running.
